Are you ready for some shocking statistics?

According to the National Literacy Institute, "on average, 79% of U.S. adults nationwide are literate in 2024. 54% of adults have a literacy below a 6th-grade level (20% are below 5th-grade level).

Low levels of literacy cost the US up to 2.2 trillion per year."

While we all can sympathize that schoolwork can be a lot of work and stress, here are some things to keep in mind and to be grateful that you are in school: Education empowers. The more you know, the more options you have in life. At its core, education is meant to give you new ideas to ponder. It broadens your perspectives! It challenges the person to become better; physically, socially, emotionally, and spiritually. Education enriches a person's life. It leads to many opportunities that can improve quality of life. When education is connected to good moral purpose, it increases our capacity to bless the lives of others and makes our own lives more meaningful.

Where did you go to school before Towle? Glasgow Christian Academy, which is another homeschool co-op

Do you have a favorite subject? Music.

Do you have any siblings or pets? If so, how many? I have a brother and a sister.

What is your favorite food to eat for Thanksgiving dinner? They're all so good that I can't decide.

If you could have any superpower, what would it be? and why? The power to produce water out of thin air, so I could give it to people who don't have access to clean water.

What is your favorite Thanksgiving tradition? Either watching the parade or the Thanksgiving feast.

Describe yourself in three words. Musical. Unpredictable. Overthinker.

THE GALLAGHER BROTHERS!

November by Sophia Miller

November, a month where fall has finally settled, like the leaves on the forest floor or sand at the bottom of a cup that has not been touched for a bit. Thanksgiving takes place in this month, a time of, come on, we all know the real answer here: FOOOOOD.

Fine, I guess it is about giving thanks since that's the name, but the meals are equally important...to me.

Everyone has their own traditions and everything, but most of them involve meeting together with family and friends for an annual celebration about gratitude and communing with each other. Whether it's grandparents, aunts and uncles, cousins, just your household, some family friends, or all of the above, Thanksgiving is a joyful time and a break in the midst of all the "holiday" chaos. As Thanksgiving is coming up, remember to not just thank everyone in your life, but also the Lord, not just on Thanksgiving but every day. Thanksgiving is just a loving reminder.

Have a great November!

Dilemma

It was a really good idea to have a Thanksgiving dinner with all our friends, Louie!

Thanks!

Now, let's carve the turkey and dig into some yummy mashed potatoes!

Carved turkey? Mashed potatoes? For such a peaceful holiday, the food sure sounds violent!
